

Halloween Customs & Traditions

Halloween costumes originated from the Celts when they lit huge bonfires and celebrated Samhain by dressing up in elaborate animal skins and heads to disguise themselves as spirits and demons. By doing this the real demons couldn't distinguish them as being human. Their ceremonies consisted of dancing, telling stories, and reading fortunes.

Did You Know?

Orange and black are Halloween colors because orange is associated with the fall harvest and black is associated with the darkness of death.

Bobbing for apples is thought to have originated from the Roman harvest festival that honors Pomona, the goddess of fruit trees.
